

Training and support

After completing their application, a foster family participates in an initial orientation and ongoing training. Foster families receive regular visits and ongoing support from an assigned F&CS worker. We also provide formal and informal opportunities to network with other foster parents.

Foster parents receive a daily, non-taxable boarding rate for each child or youth that resides in their home. Other expenses – such as medical, dental, clothing, personal items, allowance, transportation and school related expenses – are also covered by F&CS.

How can you get involved?

Protecting children, building families

At Family & Children's Services of Guelph and Wellington County (F&CS or the Children's Aid Society), we support families to ensure that children are protected from physical, emotional or sexual abuse, and neglect. We have a team of caring workers, foster families and volunteers. We offer client-focused programs and work with parents, youth and children toward one primary goal: ensuring the safety and well-being of children. We partner with other agencies in Guelph and Wellington County to strengthen support networks and deliver programs that help families in need.

What is a foster family?

Foster families provide temporary homes for children and youth who are unable to live with their own immediate families. Depending on the circumstances, children and youth may need foster care for a few days, a few weeks, a few months or longer.

Foster families go through a detailed and standardized application and screening process and are required to attend training prior to becoming an approved foster home. Once they are approved, they can count on ongoing support from a social worker and will receive financial assistance when a child or youth is placed in their home.

A temporary home for children in care

Children may need foster family care for just a few days, a week, several months or possibly years. Foster parents and F&CS staff work together to support the healthy growth and development of each child or youth. Foster parents play an important role in the daily life of each foster child or youth, and the goal of everyone involved is for the child to return to their own family. If that cannot happen, foster parents provide support to their foster children as the agency searches for a permanent home.

Each foster child is unique

Foster children range in age from newborn babies to youth 18 years old. Many foster children are teenagers and many are brothers and sisters waiting to be placed in a foster home together. They come from many diverse homes and have had many experiences, life challenges, difficulties and successes.

F&CS ensures that children are placed in safe, loving environments where their unique needs can be met.

Foster families

Foster families are:

- ▶ Families who want to reach out to children and youth in need from their community, or from their extended family

- ▶ Families who will enjoy the challenges and rewards of foster family care
- ▶ Families who are willing to work with F&CS and the child's family with the goal of the child returning home or to another permanent home

Our foster parents can be:

- ▶ Experienced parents with grown children
- ▶ Parents who are raising their own children
- ▶ People who are not raising children
